A Big Thank-you from IT Schools Africa

IT Schools Africa greatly appreciates your donation of computers.

This will help IT education in Africa enormously because schools and pupils greatly need computers. Your donation will make a major contribution to transform their lives, especially in today's world of the Information Economy. Over the last 4 years we have sent 20,000 refurbished computers to schools in Africa and trained over 650 teachers.

Your donation has many other social, ethical and environmental benefits. It helps unemployed people in the UK gain IT and employment skills as we rely on their time and commitment. We also work with prisons on a Restorative Justice programme giving prisoners new and worthwhile skills. Equally it is an environmentally friendly way of disposing of equipment as we are able to extend the life of a computer by on average five years. When the computers do eventually come to the end of their life, they are taken to a recycling plant where the constituent parts are recycled.

IT Schools Africa welcomes and relies on computer donations whether it is from an individual, school, business or other organisations. Please be assured that data on the hard drive is wiped.

Many thanks.
